

EARTH BATTALION MISSIONS CONFIRMED

Wednesday, 14 October 2009

At a recent press conference Jim Channon confirmed the four missions of the proto-mythical First Earth Battalion. He stressed that the main reason the unit exists is to profess the positive visions for the future for Armed Forces of the Planet and those independent global members who aspire to the warrior monk archetype. He reviewed the following mission elements:

BE ALL YOU CAN BE the constant work of the battalion is the integral assembly of advanced human performance skills, the paranormal, and optimal states of being.

CREATE A PARADISE ON PLANET EARTH the deliberate acceptance of the idea that this earth is totally suitable for the creation of a paradise like world and that our only real obstacle is believing that idea and acting collectively upon it.

RECOVERING THE BIOSPHERE the realization of the plan called Operation Noble Steward where all the respective military forces on the planet conspire to the recovery of our most important long range resource ...our biosphere.

GLOBAL PUBLIC UNITY as a prerequisite for our final move into the next world we want to establish the need and value of a planetary citizenry that re-purposes all the institutions we have already created to operate in a progressive and sustainable global manner and achieves natural security for our planet.

After the press conference Colonel Channon cut a short you tube video called Combat of the Collective Conscience. Just go to you tube and search for Jim Channon. For other background on Jim check the wikipedia. See the new website created by the cav.

Recent successes have included improving the trauma recovery skills of Army medical units like the brain rangers in Irag, sharing psy op approach plans to enter villages w/o creating collateral damage, and improving the distance sensing skills for soldiers entering danger zones using on board psi tools. We can do war another way!!!!
